

WHILE COSTS RISE, WHERE IS AMFA?

After decades of failure and outsourced jobs in the United States, AMFA is trying to sell the same bad representation in Canada. They say they understand our issues. Yet, AMFA can't be bothered to speak up against the tariff war on Canada.

Has AMFA issued a single public statement opposing tariffs and rising costs on Canadian workers? Have they done any lobbying against the trade war? Does AMFA even know what issues are important to us as workers?

If AMFA won't speak up for you now, will they ever?

On the other hand, the IAM has the best job protection language in the industry. The IAM has repeatedly called for an end to all tariffs on Canadian workers, and has been active legislatively on both sides of the border to defend workers from tariffs.
